UKTI Innovation Competition – BIO International Convention 2013, 22nd – 25th April, McCormick Place, Chicago

BIO remains the largest biotechnology event in the world. 2012 was a huge success hosting a record number of partnering meetings and highlighting a broad array of top-level speakers.

The event drew over 15,000 industry leaders from 65 countries, attracting the top companies and government representatives from around the globe.

What we are looking for

More than one-third of attendees at BIO International Convention arrive from more than 60 countries ready to share their extensive knowledge and establish vital relationships.

UKTI's Innovation Competition is looking to highlight UK excellence in ground breaking and innovative technologies to a global audience. The competition is open to UK Small & Medium Sized Enterprises (SME's) in the sector with innovative technological ideas, so if you have the ideas and a story to tell do not miss out on this opportunity.

Our offer*

Four successful competition winners will win:

- Partnering Pass (with full access to BIO 2013 Convention)
- Assistance with flight and accommodation (subject to terms and conditions)

Prize only applicable to 1 person per company UKTI will pay competition winners actuals for flight and accommodation if less than £1,500 or will make a financial contribution up to a value of £1,500, if this figure has been exceeded.*

How to apply

For a chance to win the above offer and to showcase your technology at the Convention. Please complete the attached application form and return it to Claire Brown at UKTI:
